

Boy, are you so far off the mark. Your argument is blatantly false, and it seems that you would know that. Here in Hungary your assessments are prevalent in many circles as well. The propaganda wing here is extraordinary, here in Hungary, like it is in Russia. Russia's economy is smaller than at least 3 US states—probably smaller now—not too many people fleeing eastward, but by genocide and kidnap and rape and torture and death. In Russia today, just a handful of oligarchs control 85 percent of the value of the country's leading private companies, and Hungary is probably doing about the same.

Do you think they've killed the Nazis yet? NO! The Nazis are in Russia, in Hungary, in Belarussia. I have more than 270 links regarding this issue, including from Timothy Snyder, who gave a 25 hour lecture on the history of Ukraine (and the Budapest agreement). Putin said that Ukraine isn't a real country and belongs to Russia, but his rhetoric has changed many times over the years – he controls the media and has shut down dissent. Putin gave his thesis on this topic and has outlined the historical basis for his claims in it—kind of Hitler's rhetoric, don't you think?

I was going to argue your assessment bit by bit, but I simply don't have time for that. I'll just argue with references. America ISN'T the same!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Russia is supported by Satan and America's constitution's prophet is none other than Moses and is based on Moses' principles (though admittedly they run the country far from those principles these days). Iraqis wanted the Americans to stay because they knew what would happen – and did happen, if and when they left in an untimely manner.

P.S. WWIII is already here, but I just call it an extension of WWII and WWI. What is the war about? Who controls the resources? The people or the puppet masters? Russia will be dismembered in a day if they should even think about pushing any buttons. Besides, more than Putin will have to make that decision – not a simple maneuver. Russia will be destroyed in a day and as for the rest of the world, it will still be standing, no matter how crippled. However, if Putin's WWIII weaponry is as duddified as this regular dud army, well, the worry will be far less than the Orks project.

Didier Duplantier replied:

The signatories of the memorandum only pledged to Ukraine's territorial integrity and inviolability of its border, not to protect such border. In 2014, it was the US that violated the memorandum by staging a coup on a democratically elected government that wanted closer ties with Russia. Victoria Nuland was caught red handed at it. The results was the annexation of Crimea and a decade of ethnic cleansing by the Ukrainian government of Russians in the Don Bas. I'm not saying Russia is in the right with its invasion, but we instigated the whole thing with our shenanigans. If you so afraid of ww3, then you shouldn't advocate for deeper involvement by this country. Don't forget that Russia also has nukes.
